

Crosses to Bear

I discovered the Sierra Vista Cemetery while I was exploring Taos, New Mexico. My morning photography walk lead me to this magical place on the northern edge of town. Morning light illuminated the burial ground. I never spent time walking through a graveyard. I felt warm and peaceful. I found comfort and contentment in the cemetery, and a sense of solitude.

