

During the Covid-19 Pandemic, I started photographing how light transforms my home. As quarantine restrictions eased, I continued this activity. I never tire of discovering the beauty and unpredictability of light.